AN INTERWEAVER CAN WEAR MANY HATS

Interweaving embrace a human centric, work oriented, and evolved practice. A practice where Interweavers can be seen as wearing manifold of hats. Each hat is worn with an interweaving lens, focusing on what is salient and what weaves people together. A lens that aims at delivering benefits to people and work they do with others.

Interweaver

An accommodator and helper that obtains knowledge, insights for innovation and improvement, turn insights into action, connects the most important things and people in work people do with others, aiming to Unlock, Realise, & Optimise The Value Of Togetherness.

Integrator, Translator

A broad generalist and topic specialist that brings together and weaves parts into a whole. A connector and transcriber between people and their lenses, perspectives, work practices, and professions.

Facilitator

A helper that makes something become easier for someone else, and that stimulates discussions, ideation, engagement, learning, shared understanding, and the making of informed decisions and actions.

Mediator, Empathiser

An understanding and sensitive person that deals with project difficulties and problems, errors and omissions in work, or a neutral and impartial person that settles differences or decide on disputes. (negotiator, arbitrator, conciliator)

Advisor

A trusted suggester of practical, expert, and sound advice. A provider of information, guidance, recommendations, and answers to questions.

Manager, Leader

A director and controller of coordinated activities in programs, projects, or other endeavours. A person with a high control or influence over follower(s), and can focus their attention and allocation of effort in order to achieve missions and objectives.

Overseer

A supervisor that watches over and directs the work of others, as part of quality management, assurance, compliance, and control. (governor)

Assistant

An aid and enabler that supplements, complements, and contributes to both work and deliverables

Enabler

A helper that provides and manages tools, guidance, methods, frameworks, systems, data repositories, services, and other means to projects and managers.

Craftsman

A practical, skilled, experienced, and knowledgeable worker, on the professional and learning path from apprentice, to journeyman, through to master.

Artist, Storyteller

An imaginative storyteller that generates novelties, creative insights, and visions, through comprehensive synthesis.

Scientist

A performer of systematic methods, inquiry, analysis, and synthesis based on measurable evidence, aimed at acquiring or adjusting knowledge.

Problem Solver

A thinker that uses intuition, logic, and techniques to create a solution for circumstances or situations regarded as unwelcome or harmful and needing to be dealt with, or questions raised for consideration.

Designer

An understander of human meaningfulness and needs that turns insight and the possibilities of technologies into innovative solutions, which are suitable, feasible, sustainable, motivational, valuable, workable, acceptable, and agreeable.

Analyst, Evaluator

A student of the constituent parts and their interrelationships within a whole. Sometimes, a synthesiser and a combiner of parts into new wholes. A judge of something's merits, worth, quality, or significance.

Interpreter, Modeller

An observer that translates observations, signs, measurements, and thoughts into documents, illustrations, or models.

Methodologist

A designer, analyst, and evaluator of ways of working, work specifications, processes, manageable activities and tasks roles, and deliverables in highly coordinated, distributed, and projects.

Information Designer

An explainer, planner, and maintainer of information, data to a particular audience to meet specific objectives as part of knowledge and information management. (knowledge engineer)

Researcher, Developer

An explorer of new knowledge, tools, ways of working and thinking, and technologies to create new or improved capabilities, and to enable decision making and work.

Paraprofessional

A trained worker who is not a member of a profession but who assists a professional.

INTER⊗WEAVING